NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

The Journal of Malaysian Chinese Studies is published twice a year, in June and December. It welcomes contributions in Chinese or English. Manuscripts of articles or book reviews should be double-spaced with wide left and right margins and submitted to the following address:

Editor-in-Chief
Journal of Malaysian Chinese Studies
Centre for Malaysian Chinese Studies
No.1, Jalan Maharajalela,
50150 Kuala Lumpur,
Malaysia.

Manuscripts may also be submitted in an appropriate digital form to <journalmcs@gmail.com>

Contributors are requested to adhere to the format of the journal as shown below:

- (i) Title page: Indicate the title of the paper, the full names(s) of the author(s) (with the surname/family name capitalized), institutional affiliation, postal and e-mail address.
- (ii) Abstract: Submit an abstract of 200-250 words in a separate sheet in Chinese or English.
- (iii) Headings: Provide clear and concise headings. Not more than three levels of headings should be used:
First-level headings - centred, initial capitals and bold.
Second-level headings - flush left, initial capitals and bold.
Third-level headings (if necessary) - in italics, flush left, initial capitals and bold.
- (iv) Illustrations: Illustrations should be numbered consecutively as figures and should be reproducible to conform to a format of 125mm x 185mm. Black and white or colour photographs are numbered consecutively as plates. Illustrations and photographs should be accompanied by explanatory captions and, if necessary, a note regarding the source or copyright, and placed below the figure.
- (v) Statistical Tables: These must be typed on separate sheets of paper and numbered consecutively, with its caption placed on top, and acknowledgement of source, if any, at the bottom, of the table. Measurements and statistics should be given in metric units.
- (vi) Citations: References to sources should be cited in the text according to the (Author year) format. To cite a work of reference by three or more authors, quote only the first name followed by et al. For works of references by the same author for the same year, for example, the year 2000, cite 2000a, 2000b, etc. Citations for different authors with the same surname/family name should be distinguished by using their full names or their initials, e.g. (Ho, P.T. 1965; Ho, P.Y. 1985). Where direct quotations are used, the page number should be indicated, e.g. (Zhang 1999: 10).

Citations based on personal communications should include the following details, e.g. (Ho Peng Yoke, conversation with the author, Brisbane, 18 August 2000).

- (vii) Notes: Explanatory notes should be kept to a minimum, numbered sequentially in Arabic numerals in superscript in the text and the notes appended at the end of the paper as "Notes".
- (viii) References: Manuscripts must provide bibliographic details for all works of reference in different languages that are cited in the text under a section for "References" and arranged alphabetically by author, according to the format as shown below:
 - (a) Books: WANG, Gungwu 1991. China and the Chinese Overseas. Singapore: Times Academic Press.
 - (b) Articles: CARSTENS, Sharon A. 1998. Gender, temple and community in a Chinese Malaysian settlement. Journal of Malaysian Chinese Studies, 2: 85-98.
 - (c) Collections: HARRIS, Michael Bond and HOFSTEDE, Geert 1990. The cash value of Confucian values. In Capitalism in Contrasting Cultures, edited by Stewart R. Clegg, S. Gordon Redding, assisted by Monica Cartner. Berlin and New York: Walter de Gruyter.
 - (d) Theses: RAJA SOTHI, R.S. 1995/96. Female Indonesian and Filipino Domestic Helpers: Case Studies in Kuala Lumpur. Unpublished M. Phil. thesis, University of Malaya.
 - (e) References from the Web: CHIN Ung Ho 2000. The Chinese of Malaysia. Retrieved 16 March 2001 from http://www.asiafeatures.com/current_affairs/0007,0415,01.html

In English language manuscripts, Chinese publications should be arranged alphabetically according to the Pinyin system as follows:

Hu Jichuang胡寄窗1997.《中国经济思想史简编》。上海：立信会计出版社 (An Abridged History of Chinese Economic Thought).

Contributors of articles will receive a copy of the journal. Authors are responsible for obtaining permission from owners of copyrights for materials already published elsewhere. The Editorial Board is not responsible for the opinions and statements of contributors to the journal.
